Food for Your Journey - Printed Gospel as Missionary

The Gospel in print is a missionary. It never flinches nor shows cowardice. It never tires, never grows discouraged.

It travels cheaply and requires no church building. It works while others sleep. It never loses its temper. It continues to minister after the present generation has moved on.

The Gospel in print is effective. It gains entrance to lowly hut and lofty palace. It speaks to a person at the right time, only when he or she is reading it. It sticks to what it says and never answers back. It reaches those who otherwise might never be reached. It points the way to eternal life through Jesus Christ.

The Gospel in print is far-reaching. A pamphlet written by Martin Luther fell into the hands of John Bunyan, and by this means he was converted.

This missionary: the Gospel in print, should have the prayerful support of every Christian. Those who make it possible become missionaries of the printed page.

A Smile for Your Journey

A minister was visiting the home of a family in his congregation. Their little son ran in, holding a mouse by the tail.

"Don't worry, Mom, it's dead," he reported. "We chased him, then hit him until. . ."

Just then he caught sight of the minister. He lowered his voice and eyes and finished, ". . .until God called him home,"
