Talk about it. Break the silence. Mental illness touches us all in some way directly or through a friend, family member or colleague. Educate yourself to know the facts and myths about mental illness. The words you use and being kind can make a difference. You can help by being a good listener and asking how you can help. Most people with mental health issues can and do recover. Let's be part of this process. Join in the conversation and participate on Thursday, Jan. 30. Bell will donate 5¢ for mental health initiatives each time you tweet, facebook, snapchat, make a mobile or long distance call, text or watch our official video on Instagram or on YouTube. Help to end the stigma of mental illness.

The EDGE youth had their very first Sports night at St. Mary School this past week. It was great to see the new gym and space at the school. We look forward to more nights there! We also continued our lessons and tried to make sense of all the suffering in the world. It was not in God's plan for us to experience suffering, but He promises to make us strong through it. Our next EDGE will be the skating party at the East End Hall on Friday, January 31st.

Food for Your Journey - Knowing Christ

Some years ago a famous actor was at a party and was asked by the guests to do a recitation for them. He asked if there were anything special they would like to hear, and an old minister asked for Psalm 23 - "The Lord is my Shepherd" Psalm. A strange look came over the actor's face. He paused for a moment and then said, "I'll do it on one condition: that after I have recited it, you, my friend, will do the same."

"I" said the preacher in surprise. "I am not a professional speaker. But, if you wish, I shall recite it too."

So the actor recited with all the finesse of his trade and held the audience spellbound. The old man stood up and recited the Psalm with a weak wavering voice. But when he sat down, there was not a dry eye in the room.

Then the actor rose with his own voice quivering. "Ladies and gentlemen," he commented, "I reached your eyes and ears; but he has reached your hearts. The difference is just this: I know the Psalm. But he knows the Shepherd."

A Smile for Your Journey

A mother was preparing pancakes for her sons, Jack and Chris. The boys began to argue over who would get the first pancake. Their mother saw the opportunity for a moral lesson. "If Jesus were sitting here, He would say, 'Let My brother have the first pancake; I can wait.'"

Jack turned to his younger brother and said, "Chris, you be Jesus!"
